

QRA is a rapid Assessment of the Body's Main Organ/Gland Control Points and electrical Interference Fields.

Today, many scientists believe the secrets of regeneration and healing lie not within costly medical drugs or expensive medical treatments, but in the body's own Quantum Energy Biofield (QEB). Practitioners of QRA (Quantum Reflex Analysis) use the energy biofield to define and eliminate stressors that have deactivated the body's own potent internal healing systems for rejuvenation, endurance, vitality and longevity.

Quantum Reflex Analysis™ (QRA) provides specific tools for precisely identifying the hierarchy of what is taking place in the human body. The new paradigm in quantum bioenergetics has proven that the body's electrical biofield is preeminent over all the body's biochemical processes (as shown in decades of German biophotonic research by Dr. Fritz Popp)

This explains why even extensive treatment interventions on the biochemical level can often provide only minimal help for chronically ill patients. For rapid clinical resolution of even the worst cases, specific evaluation of the body's electrical biofield is essential.

QRATM provides efficient analysis for all types of cases and is especially helpful for more complicated cases where a weakened or disordered physiology has created a resistant symptom picture. Dr. Goong is a certified platinum QRA practitioner
